

S. L. Waits 'Parson of Panamint' Premiere

Utah Beauties to Greet Hollywood Stars

Utah beauty will greet Hollywood glamor Thursday when Covered Wagon Days Queen Noma Andrus and her aids, Miss Marie Folsom and Miss Edna Newson welcome premiere-bound Paramount film stars to Salt Lake City.

Carrying an official invitation to attend Salt Lake's celebration, the Utah girls will join Mayor Ab Jenkins in welcoming the celebrities at 10:20 a. m. at the Union Pacific station, coming to attend the world premiere Thursday evening of "The Parson of Panamint" at the Utah theater.

Among them will be Charlie Ruggles, Patricia Morison, Phillip Terry, who has the title role in the motion picture; Susan Peters, starlet now with Warner Bros. Pictures; Clem Bevans, famous character actor, and Harry Sherman, producer, and Mrs. Sherman.

Author Peter B. Kyne will arrive from San Francisco Wednesday.

The gala party will be escorted by the Utah theater band to the Hotel Utah.

These film celebrities will attend the premiere of "The Parson of Panamint" Thursday evening at the Utah theater. Top, Phillip Terry, left; Charles Ruggles. Below, Patricia Morison, left; Susan Peters.