

GRAND THEATRE LEASED

Pacific Coast Vaudeville Man Proposes to Open House for Musical Comedy and Motion Pictures.

The Grand theatre, formerly the Garrick, has been leased to A. H. Christie of San Francisco for eighteen months by A. A. Sermon, the owner, for the production of musical comedy and motion pictures. It is expected that the first production under the new management will take place next Sunday night, although details of the opening have not been fully completed.

Mr. Christie is well known on the Pacific coast as a producer of vaudeville. He is at the Hotel Utah and said last night that he intends to enter the 10, 20 and 30-cent vaudeville field.
